EDITORIAL

Jurnal Widya Medika Volume 5 No. 2, October 2019, is our third online publication since becoming an electronic journal and having an e-ISSN in October 2018. Our journal is now indexed in Google Scholar, Bielefeld Academic Search Engine (BASE), and Garba Rujukan Digital (GARUDA, Ministry of Research, Technology and Higher Education's Index), and Crossref. Jurnal Widya Medika has been able to reach a much wider audience, attracting thousands of readers both local and international. Since last year, our journal has had 5,523 views in total, 90% of which were Indonesian visitors, while the remaining 10% were from various countries around the globe, including United States, China, and Russia. As we strive to continuously improve various aspects of our journal, we are moving one step closer to realizing our vision of becoming a global scientific communication media between researchers, academics, and the public, to advance scientific knowledge and aid the development of our country, Indonesia.
