EDITORIAL

Journal of Widya Medika Junior Volume 1 No. 2, April 2019, is our second ever publication since this journal was established. In this issue we present articles covering various medical questions that our students researched, including some topics covering geriatric and family medicine - the two preeminence of our medical faculty. We believe that the publication of these articles would benefit our students, faculty, as well as the general population, since dissemination of information is an important step in the scientific process, exposing more knowledge to the world. In publishing their work, we also hope to stimulate our students' curiosity and desire to pursue scientific knowledge, and by giving them an avenue to make their first scientific publication, motivate them to make more future publications.
